Mark's Musings

Well, May 21 has come and gone and we're still here. I was fascinated by the combination of end-times fanaticism and media attention. (And as one friend asked, "Why is it that Jesus can't get good publicity for the real message of the Gospel?") The radio preacher who started the whole thing is predictably revising his prophecy to allow for Saturday's non-event. It's easy to laugh at the whole thing, and I confess to some of that myself. Still, there are at least two questions that need some thought.

First, why is it that some Christians are so eager to get out of this world? I'm not talking about folks who face pain and suffering. But why do otherwise healthy, normal folks who claim to follow Jesus want to give up on this world? If God hasn't given up, how can we? The flip side of that question, of course, is to ask again, in all seriousness, why we're still here. And it's really not so hard a question, is it? We have work to do, love to share, encouragement to offer, justice to pursue, grace to live out, and hope to proclaim. God's not done with the world or with us. So let's stick around. For goodness' sake.

Grace and peace,
Mark

Cookies (& other food items) for Hospice were taken to both Hospice locations. Our next "Cookies for Hospice" Sunday will be June 5th. During the time the kitchen is unavailable, the Hospice donations should be placed in the Ruth/Lydia ladies classroom for pickup and delivery.

At our May meeting, we continued to stuff heart pillows for patients in the cardiac surgical unit at Cone Hospital to meet their urgent need. Also Thank You cards for veterans were passed out to each in attendance. Each person was requested to write notes and bring the cards back to the next meeting and they collectively will be mailed to a local veteran's hospital.

An additional mission project for the month of May was collection of items for Family Promise of Forsyth County. To involve as many in the church as possible with this project, Sunday School classes were invited to participate by purchasing certain items and others were given ideas from their Wish List.

Our next meeting will be Wednesday, June 1st, and each lady is invited as we plan to join our hearts and hands in assisting others as UNION CROSS REACHES OUT TO SHOW HIS LOVE.

Congratulations to our 2011 Graduates!
