

Hey Youth!

Some thoughts as another school year is under way!
Education is the movement from darkness to light.

~ Allan Bloom

Some students drink at the fountain of knowledge.

Others just gargle.

~ E.C. McKenzie

Education is learning what you didn't even know you didn't know.

~ Daniel J. Boorstin, Democracy and Its Discontents

I have never let my schooling interfere with my education.

~ Mark Twain

Calling all Kids!

A new school year has begun, and so have lots of great programs here at UCBC! Don't miss out on Wednesday night Children's Choir and Missions programs, or Sunday Night Promiseland. See Erin for more details!

Mark's Musings

On the Friday afternoon I am writing this, Hurricane Irene is barreling toward the North Carolina coast. We have all been watching forecasts and looking at projected paths for several days now. But the storm has not yet come. Sometimes the storms in our lives are like that. We can see them coming. We can at least try to prepare. Then there are those other times. On this past Tuesday, we were all quite surprised to experience an actual earthquake. Desks and chairs shook. No, it wasn't in the same league with the quakes in other parts of the world. But it shook us just the same. And it caught us completely by surprise. Sometimes life shakes us up in that way, as well, with no warning, no chance to prepare. No, that isn't quite right. You see, we always have the chance to do some preparation. Certainly we can't foresee everything that may come our way. But we can do the everyday work of growing in our faith, of paying attention to God's constant presence in our lives. The storms may batter us sometimes. The very ground may seem to be moving beneath our feet sometimes. But the God who loves us and cares for us is with us always—now and forevermore.

Grace and peace,
Mark

A very generous amount of cookies (& other food items) for Hospice were taken to both Hospice home locations on August 7th & 8th. Also on July 31 Becky Lauten and Jane Sutphin went to the hospice home in WS and baked cookies, which the families and staff members seemed to really appreciate and enjoy. Our next "Cookies for Hospice" Sunday will be September 11.

A total of 217 items were delivered to the Senior Services office. Wow, what an impressive amount! The staff was quite impressed with all our donations. Thanks to everyone who participated.

The August monthly project was collecting school items for local children, primarily at Union Cross Elementary.

Let's start the new church year with even higher attendance in our September monthly meeting and even greater participation in assisting others as UNION CROSS REACHES OUT TO SHOW HIS LOVE.

We need your help to stay in touch with young adults! If you have a child or grandchild who is away at school and you want UCBC to stay in touch with him or her, please email a current address and phone number to erin@unioncrossbaptist.org or ucbaptist@bellsouth.net. Contact info changes often with people in this stage of life, so please take the time to make sure we have the most current info for your family members!
